NOW HIRING!: LEAD DEVELOPER

About Browser

Based in Shoreditch, the heart of digital London, Browser is a digital agency that prides itself on strategy, innovation and design.

Founded in 2008 by the Morency brothers, Browser have steadily expanded by acquiring premiere digital, design and development talent.

From global names like the BBC and Renault to new business ventures like Gloople, the UK's first social shopping platform, Browser's projects are as engaging as they are diverse.

We're looking for

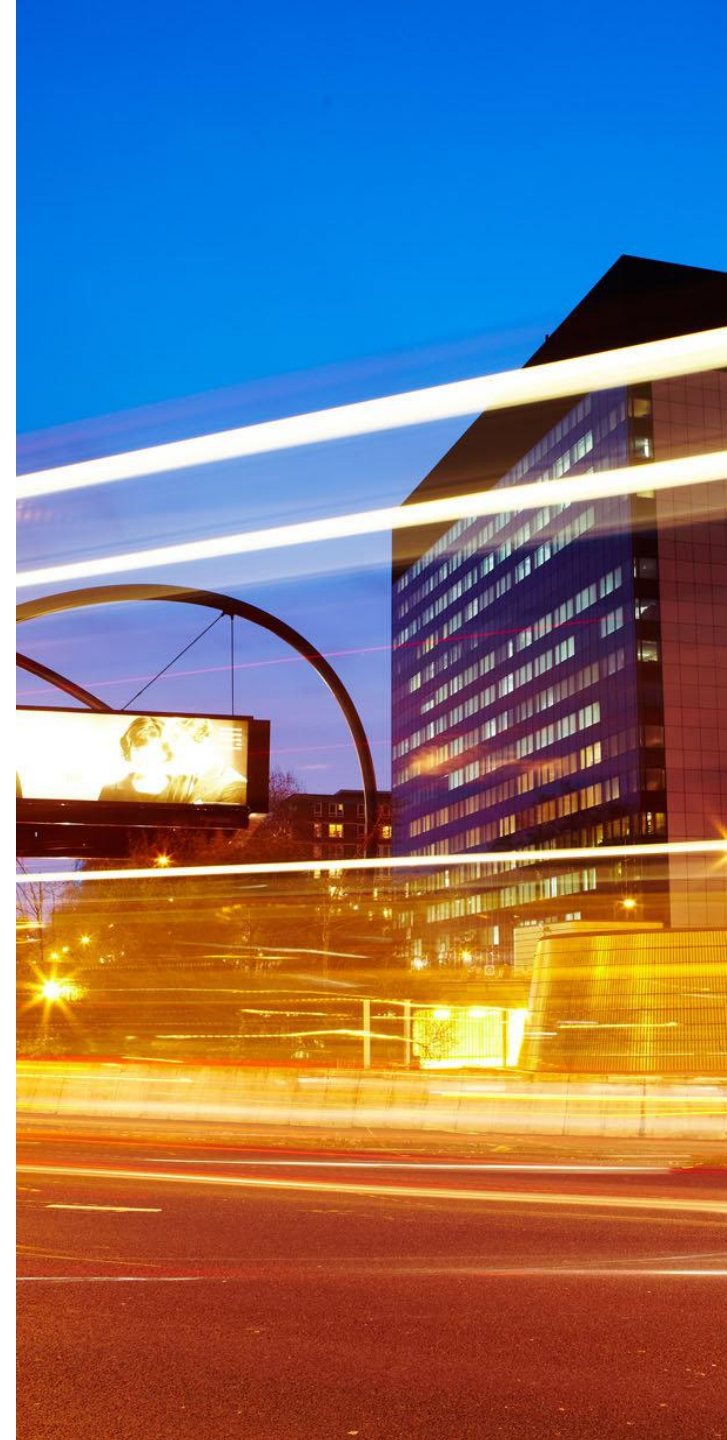

We're searching for a talented Lead developer to join our team in Shoreditch, AKA 'tech city.'

Browser is a unique team of talented individuals, brought together by our passion to innovative and push boundaries.

We're after an individual that can drive the technology team, push fresh, even unseen ideas. An organiser that can guide the team's technology choices and implement best coding practices throughout Browser.

We want a head developer who leads from the front, will work closely with commercial and production teams to bring projects together whilst bringing cutting edge code to our larger clients.

Why we're hiring

There's no point hiding our ambition, we set high standards for ourselves and shoot for ambitious targets. With aims to double our staff over the next 18 months, we recognise the need for individuals to drive innovation and inspire the technology team.

We're more than a design agency, much of what we do is centred around compiling technology choices around our clients. We see the technology team as the biggest area for growth in terms of new team members.

We want to cement our USP by providing sites that let our clients touch their customers through cutting edge technology, UX and design. We need people on the 'bleeding-edge' that can experiment with new techniques and implement them into real world situations.

Know your role

As lead developer you'll spearhead Browser's technological development

- Experiment with new technologies to develop commercial solutions in fitting with clients' digital strategies.
- Lead the technology team, using commercial experience coupled with technical prowess to inspire and galvanise; driving our position in the marketplace as an innovation agency.
- Plan, implement and maintain a process for continuous integration and deployment of new technologies. Ensure development and UI work together seamlessly.
- Help shape the framework we use and support platform development on a project-by-project basis.
- Have fun!, inspire others with knowledge and be a part of the culture that we've developed over the years.

Know your role

Specific roles and responsibilities include:

- Advising on which technology can best deliver against strategic objectives.
- Leading technological innovation within the agency.
- Combining development operations and infrastructure to deliver highly resilient and scalable solutions.
- Leading the team using Agile (SCRUM) methodologies.
- Assisting in costing of projects and helping to manage delivery of technical solutions.

Your set of skills

- At least 4 years experience in the digital space.
- OOP, PHP.x, MySQL, JQuery.
- Source control – GIT.
- Server administration using LAMP stacks.
- Amazon Cloud (S3, RDS, etc).
- Agile (SCRUM) methodologies (non-essential).
- Educated to degree level (2:1 or above).
- HTML5, CSS3 (non-essential).

CAREER BREAK & SABBATICAL

Life isn't just about work, fulfilment on a personal level is important. After two years at Browser you can apply for a career-break or sabbatical so that you can go off and travel the world.

PENSION SCHEME

Spending now is great, but so is saving for the future. We'll match your pension contribution, up to 5%.

BEER TOKENS

We often venture to the pub to celebrate the week, 6pm on Friday (normally at the Strongrooms) - we'll make sure the beers are in. We call them beer tokens.

More benefits

INTEREST FREE LOAN

Given our office's locale, public transport is a great option for your commute. We can help take the sting out of exorbitant travelcard fees with an interest free loan on season tickets.

GREEN TRANSPORT

We're strong believers in keeping it eco-friendly where possible. Many of us are keen cyclist and as such we fully support the Government's Green Transport initiatives - making cycling to work more accessible through offering some unique tax incentives.

What else?

- A position in an agency to work with people who actually do love their job
- Excellent learning environment
- Competitive salary in a rapidly growing company
- Legendary office parties
- Career progression in a company that strives to be better

Our culture

We are a young, vibrant team of socialites at heart, the culture within the agency is work hard, play hard and to celebrate our successes wherever possible! The fridge always has beverages for special occasions and you will always receive cake on your birthday (savory options are also available, birthday burrito anyone?).

We are keen go-karters and try to enter a team every month, currently we are 2011 and 2021 champions in the digital agency league. The fun isn't limited to the track though, this summer we took the day to visit Thorpe Park, for strictly business related fun.

We also have legendary office parties, with guest speakers, DJ's and free bars...but if you miss one of those you can find us at the Strongrooms bar on Curtain Road from 6.30pm on Friday evenings for weekend festivities.
